Tax and Vat - Reporting Issues

Course No 227

The course aims at providing participants with the fundamentals of income tax regulations to enable them to understand the process of arriving at the chargeable income for tax purposes. It will look into allowable and disallowable deductions, reporting obligations as well as an overview of the refund mechanism for companies. It will also address VAT which is bound to affect us at some point in our business lives; what may seem as straightforward often hides unexpected complications. The session will seek to address the basic concepts that underpin the application of Value Added Tax in a day-to-day context. It will delve into various aspects of VAT, which include the place of supply rules and the application of the reverse charge mechanism; recovery of input VAT and partial attribution, as well as other practical aspects, including invoicing, reporting obligations and applying for VAT refunds.
