ESG: A PRACTICAL OVERVIEW

19 September 2025
09:00 to 12:00 CET

This course provides a high-level overview of Environmental (E), Social (S), and Governance (G) criteria (ESG), offering a general introduction to this rapidly evolving sector. It is divided into three key sections: The first section will focus on the core principles of ESG, explaining what it is, its objectives, and its evolution over time. The second section will examine key regulatory developments in the ESG space, including the Taxonomy Regulation, the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR), and the upcoming Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD), along with their implications for market participants. The final section will explore the practical application of ESG both locally and internationally, and consider what the future holds for this growing field.
